

Fishing In and Around Glastonbury

If sitting at the side of a lazy river or lake with a rod is your idea of recreational bliss then Somerset has something for you. This article features the places in and around Glastonbury where you can enjoy fishing during your stay.

Glaston Manor Angling Association Locations

▪ Burtle Road Lakes

Three lakes of various depths between 5ft and 9ft in a tranquil environment surrounded by wonderful wildlife.

Location: Burtle Road between Westhay and Burtle

▪ Moorland Pond

Small water, ideal for a bit of float fishing for those timid crucians.

Location: Ashcott Road, Meare, GLASTONBURY

▪ North Drain

Very shallow waterway.

Location: 1 1/2 fields above the Wedmore to Westhay Road, upstream to source.

▪ River Brue

Location: Both banks from Lydford on Fosse Bridge down stream to the old White House site, approximately 1 1/2 miles below Westhay bridge. Also the north bank above Lydford on Fosse Bridge from the fifth to the ninth field.

▪ River Sheppey

Location: The water starts below Fenny Castle at Hurn Farm and continues until it meets the River Brue upstream of Westhay Bridge. The river is narrow and shallow with deeper glides that make excellent winter fishing.

▪ River Whitelake

This is a shallow waterway that is really only fishable when the weed has disappeared.

▪ South Drain

Wider drain with varying depths from 3ft in upper reaches I.e. Glastonbury end to 6ft in lower reaches.

Old Oaks

Finally last, but not least, is the Old Oaks 5 star touring, camping and glamping for adults.

Nestled beneath Old Oaks, with a view of Glastonbury Tor, Old Oaks has a half-acre coarse fishing lake situated less than 300 metres from many of the pitches with good access and parking within 20 metres for the less able. Exclusively for Old Oaks guests the fishing is free from November to March with a small fee chargeable at other times.
